London, Oct. 20.—The war of-: : fice has received the following : : official dispatch via Ladysmith : : from Glencoe: "We were attack- : : at daylight by a force roughly es- : : timated at 4,000. They had: : placed four or five guns in posi-: : tion on a hill 400 yards east of : : our camp and they fired plugged : : cheils. Their artillery did no: : damage. London, Oct. 20.—It was reported in the house of commons that the British had captured 17 guns at Glencoe and that the cavairy were still pursuing the fleeing burghers.

London, Oct. 20.—A dispatch from Giencoe Camp says that Sir William Symons was wounded in the stomach and that General Yule has assumed command.

Ladysmith, Oct. 20.—A dispatch from Giencoe says that a Boer gun has been captured and that the Devonshire refiments are now engaging the Boers.

London, Oct. 20.—A special dispatch dated Giencoe announced that the Boer position had been captured after heavy fighting during which five guns were taken.

The war office during the morning received a report that General Symons was wounded during the engagement at Giencoe.

Another dispatch from Sir George Stewart. White, commander at Ladyamith, says: "The Boers commenced descending the western passes on Tuesday and came in contact with our patrols Thursday. They continued to advance, haiting for the night with their left flank at Bester's station, their center at Blue Bank and their right more retired.

"Lieutenant Galway of the National Carhineers is missing and Trooper Spencer of the Natal Carbineers was alightly wounded.

"I move my camp into a position I have selected with the object of covering the town of Ladysmith and I hoped that the Boers might have been sufficiently near me to strike a blow. However, the enemy seems to have retired west, our patrols getting in touch nowhere except with a comparatively small body at Bester's station.

"Communication with Giencoe Junction was cut off at Elandsiaagte, where they captured a goods train. A Boer train is advancing over Beggarsberg Nek. Communication by telegraph is still open via Greytown."

Later the war office received the appended dispatch from Ladysmith: "The following advices from Glencoe came just at hand: 'The King's Royal Rifles and the Dublin Fusileers are attacking a hill occupied by Boer artillery. They are within 300 yards of the position and are advancing under cover of our artillery at about 2,000 yards' range. Scouts report that 9,000 Boers are advancing from Hatting-epruit. The Fifteenth hattery and the Liecester regiment have gone to

The reported Beer attack on the British position at Giencoe was confirmed and, thanks to the promptitude of the war office in publishing the official dispatches from Sir George Stewart. White, the public has been enabled to discriminate between between the actualities and the unreliable rumors that have flooded the papers.

It appears that during the night the Boer artillery occupied a bill commanding the British camp and began dropping shells at daybreak in the direction of the British forces.

Battery of Boers Captured. The latter under General Sir William Penn Symons promptly accepted the challenge and moved to meet the invaders under cover of the British artillery, which appears to have been worked with such advantage as to quickly silence the enemy's batteries enabling the infantry to carry the Boer position with a rush, in which the Dublin Fusileers and the King's Loya Rifles are said to have specially distinguished themselves, the Fusileers capturing the first guns of the enemy taken in the present campaign.

apparently strong enough to withstand a Boer force double their own But in view of the fact that the rallway was cut at Elandsiaagt, evidently In anticipation of the present attack it would have been impossible to send reinforcements quickly from Ladysmith.

General Symonds seems to have been in the thick of the fight as might have been expected. Confirmation of the report that he was wounded has been received, but just how seriously is no yet known here.

Disappointed in Chamberlain.

New York, Oct. 20.-A'dispatch from London says: "Chamberlain's defense of his policy and dipiomacy in the house of commons was disappointing in every aspect. He opened with a flerce personal attack on Philip Stanhope, who had challenged him to answer Stead's charges and was called to order hy the speaker for implying that Stanhope was dishonest. Mr. Chamberlain claimed that the Jameson raid chapter was closed by the findings of the parliamentary inquiry. This evasion excited loud protest from the opposition and gained increased credence for Mr. Stead's accusation that Mr Chamberiain was an accompilee in the raid. Mr. Stanhope also challenged Mr Chamberlain to produce a letter written to Mr. Chamberlain before the Jameson raid inquiry by Mr. Hawkesley, the secretary of the British South Africa company. Mr. Chamberlain refused to admit the letter to Mr. Stanhope, hut offered, if he should b asked to do so, to show it to Harcourt and Bannerman who, however, were both parties to the hushed up raid in Stringency In Gold.

London, Oct. 20 .- The London manager of the Bank of South African Re public made the following statement: When one considers the average weekly gold exports from the Transvaal to England, which you may estimate at £400,000, to say nothing of 1 considerable amount that goes weckly to the continent, it is impossible to beileve that the complete cession of such a large amount will not create some stringency, especially as the only way to meet the increased British expenditures in South Africa is to ship out gold." These conditions are keenly realized by the larger financial houses and throughout the week the stock exchange has been in a state of anxiety regarding the measures the government will adopt to raise the necessary funds."

Scots Guards Inspected.

London, Oct. 20.—The Duke of Connaught, accompanied by the duchess and his daughters, inspected the Scots Guards at Cheisea barracks, after which he addressed the men on behalf of her majesty, congratulating them upon their splendid appearance and wishing them a short campaign and a safe return to England. Colonel Arthur Paget replied and called for theers for her majesty and for the Duke and Duchess of Connaught.

Steyn Call to Arms.

Cape Town, Oct. 20.—Advices from the Orange Free State announce that President Steyn has issued another proclamation calling on the burghers to a man to take arms and to fight against an unscrupulous enemy. "We are fighting a just war," said the proclamation, "and can not he defeated, as God is on our side."

Quickly Mobilized.

London, Oct. 20.—The mobilization is practically completed and it is said that more than 90 per cent. of the fresh men have rejoined the recruits This is considered eminently satisfactory. The speed at which the army corps has been gotten together has excited the admiration of the German headquarters staff.

Trophy of Yacht Contest Again Remains on This Side of Ocean.

COLUMBIA WINS A FINE RACE

In the Prettiest Struggle of the Series the Yankee Boat Outruns the Shamrock, Crossing Line Six Minutes Ahead.

New York, Oct. 20.—In a strong breeze the Columbia beat the chanenging yacht, the Shamrock, in the third of the final series for the America's cup and the America's cup remains in the United States. As in the first race, the American boat won from the challenger by a large margin over the same course, a run of 15 miles to leeward and a beat home.

it was such a breeze as Sir Thomas Lipton has been praying for, from 18 to 20 knots an hour with only a little lightening just beforetheyachts reached the outer mark. But the wind freshened again and the beat home was made with rails awash and with bellying sails.

The start was a beautiful one and the race to the outer mark a battle royal. Captain Hogarth took Shamrock across the line first, beating the Columbia over by a minute and more.

Spinnakers were broken out and during the first minutes of the contest the Columbia's, which was much the larger, gave the American boat a lot of trouble. Gradually, however, the epinnaker was better handled, and with it drawing well, Columbia managed to regain her jost ground.

The official time of the start was as follows: Shamrock, 11:00:34; Columbia, 11:01:35. The Shamrock made good use of her minute gain and was many boat lengths ahead before the defender got over the line. She seemed to improve this lead for a time, but when the defender's spinnaker began to draw properly the latter slowly but surely moved up on the challenger.

The Columbia turned the outer stake two minutes ahead of the Shamrock and at the finish she beat the Shamrock six minutes and 18 seconds, cor-

Orders have heen sent to the New York navy yard to furnish long wooden spars for the experiments to the two vessels at the anchorage in the North river and it is the expectation that the apparatus will be installed next week. According to this stipulation made by Marconi wooden spars will extend the signal masts of each ship to a height of 150 leet above the water. No metal rigging is admissible within 15 feet of the top. Near the head of each mast a yard will be lashed like a lateen rig spar to one of which there will be a rope to adjust the slant of the yard. the other end carrying the apparatus. ## THREE REASONS GIVEN

By Hon. W. J. Bryan For Visiting Ohio Voters at This Time.

INCIDENTS OF FLYING TRIP.

The Noted Orator Makes an Appeal to Voters of Northwestern Counties to Vote For John R. McLean This Fall.

Napoleon, O., Oct. 20.—The Bryan-McLean special train left Defiance at 8 a. m.

The first stop was at Napoleon, Henry county. Carriages and a large crowd were at the depot and escorted the visiting party to the courthouse, in front of which a stand had been erected. Congressman D. D. Donovan presided and introduced Mr. McLean, who, in a few words, introduced Mr. Bryan, as the next nominee of the Democratic party for president.

"I am glad to speak to the people of this county," said Mr. Bryan.

"It is a small county, but what you lack in quantity you make up in quality. I understand one-third of the people of this county are Republicans and I feel so bad that any one should be a Republican that I come here to rescue the one-third. In 1896 you gave something like 1,700 majority for the Democratic ticket out of a total of less than 5,000. The Republican policy is so bad that there is not a reasonable excuse for the minority among you. There is no excuse for the one-third."

Mr. Bryan related the story of the young medical student who would bleed every patient regardless of the disease and when the patient became so weak he could stand it no longer, the student said he would prop him up in bed and bleed him again.

"And that is the way of the Republican party," continued the speaker. "It had hied you on the money question, the tax question and every other question which has come before the country. The time has come when the farmer, the plain laboring men can not afford to throw his influence on the cide of the Republican party. I helieve in an income tax and I helieve it the most just of all taxes.

"Why? Because it measures the assessment by the returns. If your income rises, your taxes increase, and if your income decilnes your taxes decline. The proposition is so fair to my mind that I do not see how any fair man can oppose it. The platform of 1896 favored it and your Zanesville platform reaffirmed the 1896 platform."

Mr Bryan then discussed sliver, the trusts and imperialism.

Bryan at Ottawa.

demonstrative crowd, the people couning from the surrounding country for miles and all were lined up in an orderly manner as an escort to the courthouse, several bands being interspersed.

Hon. John P. Bailey presided and introduced Mr. Bryan and Mr. McLean. Mr. Bryan apologized for using a skull cap, when one of the crowd yelied out "Never mind, your head is ail right," and a moment later, when the platform gave evidence of falling, Mr. Bryan observed: "I'hat shows how dangerous it is to be on any other than the Chicago platform, a platform that never breaks down and is stronger now than when it was written."

Mr. Bryan had three reasons for visiting people at this time, first, to thank the people for the large votes given him in 1896; second, where the vote was small, to do some missionary work, and third, where the vote of the counties was close, to hold meetings with the object of increasing the vote of his party. (A voice—"You'll get them all in 1900.")

"Now, my friends," said Mr. Bryan.
"I will trade votes in 1900 for votes this fall. If you'll give us a large vote this fall I'll be satisfied. (A voice—
"That means McLean.")

"Yes sir, that means McLean and everybody eise. The money question and the anti-option bill were then handled by Mr. Bryan.

Resulted In Death.

The latter says: "There can be no doubt that if our election laws are enforced as they are written elections will be fair and free."

The Governor further says: "This is no time for dissension among Republicans." By the same argument "this is no time for dissension among Democrats." The Brownites should take Governor Bradley's advice and fall in line for

ELECTION LAW PENALTIES.

Those who are ranting so much against the present election law pereist in claiming that it provides no penalties for those who violate its provisions. Judge A. P. Humphrey, of Louisville, in hls review of the law, however, shows that such a more and several elections conducted claim is utterly without foundation. Here is what he says:

The penalties for violation of the election law are very severe. A voter is punishable if he makes a false oath of disability; or if he attempts to leave the polling room with a ballot in his possession; or if he attempts to have himself illegally registered or registered in two places; or if he votes when he is not qualified to vote; or if he votes more than once; or if he even offers to vote in any precinct except the one in which he

Officers of election are punishable for electioneering on election day or for disclosing to any person the name of any candidate for whom any elector has voted; or for making false returns, or for refusing to give certificates of returns; or for altering, suppressing or destroying the poll-book or return or certificate of an election. There is no interference in the right of the voter; no interference in the right of the challenger and the inspector; no attempt to falsify the result of the election by the officers or any other person that is not de-nounced as an offense and punished by heavy fine; and, in graver cases, by confinement in the penitentiary. No policeman can shield himself hehind an election officer. He has no authority except to keep the peace, and when he goes beyond this and interferes in the conduct of the election or the count he violates the law and is punishable therefor just as any private to be a mere loose aggregate of men given individnal.

GOOD ADVICE.

No Time for Democrats to Magnify Their Differences.

Minor Considerations Should Be Subordinated—Get Together Now for 1900 -Strong Plea for Harmony.

Extract from Address to Democrats by Hon. Boyd Winehester.]

Democratic success in 1900 should be the chief object to engage the interest and effort of every Democrat, and to this end all minor considerations should be subordinated. The loss of Kentucky at this time would have a serious effect upon Democratic prospects for the great contest of next year. There is but one ticket fighting for Republican defeat and Democratic victory in Kentucky-that is the ticket headed by Senator Goebel, and it will receive the support of every Democrat who spurns party fealty merely asserted in words, but in vote violated.

The result in November will not only involve an influence on the Presidential election, but also determine whether the Democrats of Kentucky are willing to surrender the State to a continuance of Republican misrule. Let us at least cherish our State government-it is our home government-at our very door. It is our exclusive handswork and we make its laws and execute them. Our homes are in the State; we are in daily companionship with it; it is very near to us and let us guard it with the tenderest affection. Our State is a Democratic State, and the responsibility for its government should be kept where the electoral majority, honestly expressed and counted, the people of a State are Democrats, a Democratic State government is the only State government that can justly represent them and the best government that can be demanded for them.

It is a time for Democrats to ascertain wherein they agree rather than to magnify differences. No sane man will be frightened by the hysterical denunciation of the election law, which, throughout the hotly-contested campaign preceding the convention, was put to the front its discussion, and yet no one amongst the large body of Democrats who were straining every nerve to defeat his nomination accepted his challenge. Manifestly it had not at that time, in spite of having heen on the statute books for fifteen months or under its provisions, been discovered to be a hydra-headed monster of evil, threatening to destroy Magna Charta, Bill of Rights, Declaration of Independence, with all the muniments of liberty won through centuries of Anglo-Saxon

This law was enacted by a Democratic Legislature over the veto of a Republican Governor; the Democrats of the State, with their attention sharply called to it, did not see proper to send a single delegation to the convention demanding its repeal, and the convention gave it a positive and unanimous approval. If it requires any further legislative action, let it be done by the Democrats and not by the Republicans. It is dangerous to trust "glft-bearing Greeks," for it is almost certain to be a case of:

'The devil was siek-the devil a monk would be

The devil was well-the devil a mouk was he." - If the Democratic party is to continue more to quarrels amongst themselves than to unite against a common enemy, it cannot expect to malntain its ground against the well-massed forces of Republicanism. The art of putting the right men in the right place has been said to be the first in the science of government; but that of finding places for the discontented is the most difficult. The Democratic party, through the head of its ticket, is being assailed by these discontents with an Indiscriminate rapture of abuse, malice in mouth and mud in both hands. The rash and reckless employment of rancorous tongue and slanderous pen is kept busy with charges broad enough, strong enough, blasting enough, and made frequently enough with the hope that some may stick, however foundationless they may

Though fallen on such evil days and evil tongues I am confident that the party will bear up and steer right onward, never bating a jot of heart or hope, until it redeems the State and puts it again safely in the Democratic column.

EATING 'EM UP.

Figures Showing ifow the Trusts Are Destroying the Farmer.

[Standford Journal.]

The way trusts are eating up the farwas here last week, and priced these articles at $9.50 and $14 respectively for next season's delivery. This is considerably over 100 per cent. advance, with no reason for it save that the trust has bought up the manufactories and, having no competition, can make any price they wish. No. 9 wire, the kind the farmers mostly use, has jumped from $1.35 to $3.35, and is still climbing. Nearly everything else has advanced, but there has been no advance in wheat, corn, etc. A Republican administration makes such extortion as is practiced by the trusts possible by permitting them, for the sake of their contributions to their campaign fund, to exist. Hit them a lick every chance you can get. You will have a chance the 7th of November. Embrace it by voting the Democratic ticket from top to bottom.

'A Wise Woman" at Opera House This Afternoon and To-night.

An attraction that merits more than passing notice will be seen at the opera house this afternoon and to-night. It is the company that is presenting Wilfred Clark's comedy, "A Wise Woman." The presentation of Mr. Clarke's comedy in this country is reported to be meeting with the same remarkable success it had in London, and the further fact that it is being used as a medium for the introduction to the public of one of the most promising candidates for stellar honors that has recently asked for public acknowledgement, makes the production doubly interesting. The candidate referred to le Miss Marie Lamour, the charming comedienne, for some seasons past a member of the forces at Daly's by Senator Goebel, defiantly challenging Theatre, New York. Miss Lamour is supported by Frederic Murphy and a cast of prominent players. The staging of "A Wise Woman" has been done under the personal supervision of Mr. Clarke, whose wide experience and ability in matters of this kind is a strong assurance is a strong assurance that the most important part of any production has been well done.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES

Should Be Chosen by Viva Voce Vote. but Election Not Invalidated if by Secret Ballot.

The Court of Appeals has affirmed the judgment of the Harrison Circuit Court in the case of the city of Cynthiana against the Board of Education of that

The city collected from two national banks franchise taxes for 1896 and 1897. One thousand eight hundred and twenty-four dollars collected was for the maintenance of the schools, but the city refused to pay it over. The lower court held that It must do so.

Quite an important point was passed on in the case. The ground of refusal upon the part of the city was that the members of the Board of Education had been elected by secret ballot when the statutes provide that the election shall be by viva voce vote, and that their election was illegal. The Appellate Court holds that where there has been a fair and free election, without contest, even though it be by means of secret ballot, irregularity does not invalidate it.

"My Friend From India."

It has always been considered fatal to shift a play from one theater to another during the height of its success, but in case of "My Friend From India" all traditlons have been shattered. It was not higher price for admission. It was first seen in New York at the Bijou Theatre, where the best seats are $1.50, and went to Hoyt's, where the entire lower floor is held at $2. This even did not deter its business in the least, for when the people are given what they want, any reasonable price is no object. The prices will, however, not be advanced on its engagement in this city.

At Washington Opera House Thursday evening, October 26th.
